Hunter Breedlove has, over the years demonstrated the capacity of being professional and creative in the performance of consulting and contracting with Timilen Company.

I am confident Hunter would be well qualified for any position he felt capable. Timilen Company unfortunately is not in a position to bring Hunter on board in a more permanent capacity but plans to in the future when the economics and situation can allow.

His past work, creativity, and technical knowledge has been of immense value to Timilen Company and we still utilize his talents and wonderful personality. He has, and still is one of our resources and we plan to keep him as available as possible in the future.

He's a quick learner and has a can-do attitude. If you're looking for someone who can manage technical issues, web mastering and problem solving then Hunter is your guy and I recommend him highly for your consideration!
